THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CON- VENTION.

A National Convention of the Republican party will meet at Chicago, Wednesday, the 2d day of June next, for the nomination of candidates to be supported for President and Vice President at the next election.

Republicans, and all who will co-operate with them in supporting the nominee of the party, are invited to choose two delegates from each Congressional District, four at large from each State, two from each Territory, and two from the District of Columbia, to represent them in the Convention.

J. D. CAMERON, Chairman.
THOMAS B. KEOGH, Secretary.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

ROOMS OF THE REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE, MILWAUKEE, February 12, 1880.
A State Convention of delegates representing the Republican party of Wisconsin, and of all who will co-operate with them in supporting the nominee of the party, is hereby called to meet at the Capitol in Madison, at twelve o'clock P.
M. on Wednesday, May 5th, 1880, for the purpose of placing in nomination an electoral ticket of ten electors to be supported by the party at the next Presidential election, and also to select twenty delegates, (two from each Congressional District and four from the State at large,) to represent the Republican party of Wisconsin in the National Republican Convention, which is called to meet at Chicago on the 2d day of June, A. D. 1880, and to transact such other business as may be deemed necessary.

Each Senate and Assembly District is entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

Tilden wants no man with him on the Presidential ticket who has not tried his hand at fraud.

Grant's "weakness" as the Democrats choose to call it, appears to give them considerable uneasiness.

The Democratic party has about reached a state of mind in which it will make any term with Mr. Tilden if he will consent to allow the party to fall away from him.
The old man has the grip and he proposes to keep it until after June 22.

The head of Tilden's barrel will not be broken in until he sees what is done at Chicago. Should Grant be nominated, the Clyde candidate will keep his barrel headed and hooped tighter than ever. The party will not get a peep at the contents during the campaign.

It is a useless waste of time for the Democrats to engage in killing off Tilden. When they think he is dead, he has the keenest eye open. When his silence would indicate that he had forgotten the Presidential prize, he is doing some of the most vigorous work to carry off the nomination.

Democratic candidates for the Presidency are being killed off as fast as possible.
Thurman is disposed of; Hendricks is laid on the shelf; and now Bayard's war record has killed him. The statesman of Gramercy Park, however, like a cat, has nine lives. He exists to make the Democratic party squirm.

The Democrats have again kindly furnished the Republicans with some more campaign documents of excellent character. All the Democratic Senators have voted to remove all restrictions against the appointment of ex-rebels to positions in the United States army. There are not ex-rebels enough in the army to suit the Democratic party.

The Legislature is doing a wise thing in killing off the bills for the erection of small institutes for the Deaf and Dumb.
The Gazette made mention several days ago that a scheme was on foot to have three institutes in this State—one at Delavan, to cost about $70,000, one at Green Bay, to cost about $25,000, and one at Sparta or Portage, to cost about the same.
This scheme was conceived in a selfish spirit, solely for the purpose of giving Green Bay and either Sparta or Portage, the handling of some of the State funds. The bill providing for the erection of such an institute on the site of Fort Winnebago, has been killed and it is a good thing that it has been killed with in that way. An excellent building can be erected at Delavan for a sum not exceeding $70,- 000 which will be a credit to the State, and which will answer every need of the State for the care and education of the deaf and dumb. It would be nothing less than willful extravagance to satisfy the selfish spirit of other localities by making any more than one institution of the kind in the State.

The Marshals of the United States have received no pay for their services for the past eight months. Since the extra session of Congress last summer, when the Democrats refused to make any appropriation for the paying of these important officials, they have undertaken to do the work without pay, and have also been compelled to pay the expenses of their offices out of their own pockets. Attorney-General Devens has reminded Congress that they further neglect to make the needed appropriations will in many instances be disastrous. This neglect to provide for the Marshals of the United States, was one of the attempts to starve the government. When the Democrats saw that they could not whip the Executive, and had not the power to block the wheels of government by withholding appropriations, and that public sentiment was overwhelmingly opposed to such a course, several of their leaders promised that when Congress reassembled in December, the Marshals' appropriation bill should be passed. But four months of the session have already passed, and nothing has been done to fulfill the promises made more than six months ago. The Democrats have passed other appropriation bills to the amount of many millions of dollars when the money will not be needed before midsummer, and yet the Marshals, who must be constantly on duty, have not received a dollar since last July. The people certainly pretty thoroughly understand the real reasons why the Democrats are trying to starve this branch of the public service.

NUMBER 301

The New York Tribune squarely strikes he nail on the head in giving the two prime reasons why the Democrats do not make their promise good and pass the necessary appropriations for the Marshals.
"In the first place a majority of the Southern Democrats dislike United States Marshals on general principles. They hate a deputy Marshal in pursuit of a 'moonshiner,' as intensely as they do one who undertakes to see fair play on election day.
In the second place the Democratic leaders seem to be afraid of their own shadows this winter. They fear that whenever the bill to pay the Marshals their dues comes in, the discussions of the extra session will be renewed. If it had not been for those two reasons, the appropriation would have been made more than two months ago."

The interest bills before the Assembly, have, on motion of Mr. Lawrence, been made a special order for next Monday evening, when the subject will doubtless be pretty thoroughly discussed. The subject of interest is one of very considerable importance to the mercantile, manufacturing, and farming interests of this State.
Among these classes, there has been a general demand for a law decreasing the rates of interest, and yet every attempt made by the Legislature to meet that demand, has proved abortive. The difficulty is to get a majority in either branch of the Legislature to agree as to what the rate should be; and the more the question is discussed the wider are the differences of opinion concerning the propriety of legislating upon the subject.
There are those who think that the value of money as a loan, will regulate itself in the absence of any law, and that to limit the rate and enact usury laws, is legislating against the man who is compelled to borrow money. This is the position of Messrs. Colby and Lawrence who signed the minority report against the passage of the bill making the legal rate six per cent and the contract rate, eight.
In attempting to support their position, they claim that now, the demand for money as a loan, is greater than the supply. This is a statement which can hardly be supported by facts. There is not a bank in the city of Janesville but that can loan from $25,000 to $50,000 more very easily, and would be glad to do it at eight per cent, the contract rate mentioned in one of the bills. The condition of the banks here is not different from those in nearly all the cities in the West. The banks are full of money, and borrowers with good collaterals are not overly numerous. We apprehend that the passage of either of the bills in the Assembly will make but little difference with the borrowers in Janesville, or elsewhere in the State. A person who wants to borrow a small sum for thirty, sixty, or ninety days, will pay ten per cent, for it. Under one of the bills he would pay but eight, the difference being of but trifling importance.
On large sums the proposed law would seem also to make but little difference, as already they can be had for the contract rate expressed in the bill. We may expect to see the subject thoroughly handled next Monday evening, and we hope some information, pro and con, will be distributed on that evening.

A number of prominent women in New York under the lead of Kate Field, are about to inaugurate a very important reform in regard to the manner of purchasing women's wardrobes. Heretofore the wealthy ladies in the large cities have been sorely puzzled and badly sold every time they bought their dresses and bon-nets. They have been compelled to pay fabulous prices for every article they wore until, even among the richest families, the serious tax could not be endured any longer. Women want to dress well, and will dress becoming their station in life; but they have said all along that "what is cheap is not tasteful, and what is tasteful is not cheap, and that style must be paid for, particularly in this country." But things are going to change. Those who want style, and yet do not want to be robbed by the fashionable milliner, the manufacturer, and all others engaged in manufacturing women's wardrobes, have in contemplation a co-operative plan of buying dresses and so on, which will do away with the speculative prices, without diminishing the style and worth of the articles desired.
The plan, in brief, is to form in New York a stock company with a capital of $250,000, consisting of 10,000 shares, each share being $25.00. The company will buy its own materials direct from manufacturers, and will have the articles made up under the supervision of experienced persons, so that nothing will be wasted. The articles manufactured will then be sold to none but the stockholders, at price only a trifle in advance of the cost of manufacture. This has been tried in London by the wealthy ladies there, and the plan has proved very successful. The prices in this country of women's wardrobes are much higher than in England, and therefore there is much need of a necessity of organizing the co-operative association. It is time to put an end to the rapacity practiced by the milliners and mantua-makers in our large cities. Reform in this direction is necessary, and the wealthy women of New York who have some pride, but some common sense, and who are opposed to being robbed, will now see that hereafter the "pocket-draining business" will cease, so far as they are concerned.

GRANT IN MEXICO.

A Brilliant Banquet Given the Ex-President by the American Residents.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 26, via Brown-sville, Texas, Feb. 27.—The American residents gave a banquet to General Grant today at the Tivoli Garden. It was a most brilliant affair. The first toast was to the distinguished guest, seconded by Consul General Stratner.

General Grant was called on, and responded in a brief but exceedingly appropriate speech. He said he was glad to meet the people of both nations. He hoped Mexico would go on developing as she was capable of and was doing till she was our rival. We could not only teach but be taught. He hoped this occasion might be emblematic of perpetual peace between the two republics that would benefit each.
Minister Foster responded to the toast, "The President of the United States" in an eloquent manner. He closed with a toast to President Diaz, to which Congressman Calhoun responded, saying that, as in the United States, Lincoln and Grant had made liberty complete, so in Mexico Juarez and Diaz had made freedom secure.

General Sheridan responded to a toast by a brilliant and witty speech, saying in conclusion that it costs too much now to get anything in or out of Mexico, and that American capital was abundant and only waiting to come to their aid.

PINCHBACK.

He is Appointed Naval Officer at New Orleans.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The appointment of ex-Governor Pinchback as Naval Officer at New Orleans, was sent to the Senate to-day. When Senator Kellogg was first apprised of the nomination, he said it was a great surprise, as it was his understanding that the President had given assurance that Lewis, the present incumbent, should not be removed. Pinchback came here several days ago and asked for the office. He said that if he got it he would secure the delegation from Louisiana for Sherman. He went some very mad, and said that because he did not get the office he would give the delegation to Grant. Now that he is appointed, it is supposed he is a Sherman man again. Sherman has wanted to give the office to Pinchback all along, but the President objected, originally on the ground that it would look too much like a campaign bargain.

BLAINE'S STRENGTH.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—A prominent Blaine man, commenting on the result of the Utah convention says: "Mr. Blaine's friends expect that at the Chicago Convention he will carry the States of Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas, part of Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota and Nebraska; that he will divide the State of Ohio with Sherman, getting at least one-third of the delegation, and that when Sherman is dropped he will get all of Ohio as second choice. Added to this, Blaine expects to secure all of the Pacific Coast, with most of the Territories. He will divide the South with Sherman and Grant. East, he will secure the entire delegations from Maryland, New Jersey, Maine, New Hampshire, with part of Massachusetts, part of Rhode Island, and Connecticut."

TILDEN'S CORNER.

He goes in for a Monopoly of the Cincinnati Hotels.

CINCINNATI, O. Feb. 27.—The statement telegraphed from New York that the attempt to purchase a monopoly of rooms in Cincinnati hotels in June is in the interest of John Kelly and opposed to Tilden, is laughed at here by those who are in a position to know. The local Democratic Committee telegraphed to New York for information regarding Edgar K. Anger, of Albany, who is conducting these negotiations, and received word in reply that he is acting in the interest of Tilden. His orders so far aggregate several hundred rooms. He has succeeded in engaging about three hundred at the three leading hotels. Local Democratic gossip has it that an organization will be effected here to act in conjunction with Tilden's large delegation from the East, and that an attempt will be made to get possession of the galleries, corridors, and vestibule of the Music-Hall. Every mention of Tilden's name will then be greeted with yells that will raise the roof. The local committee say they have positive information as to this plan, and will do all in their power to prevent it.

THE GALLOWES.

James Howard Hanged at Ozark, Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 27.—James Howard was hung at Ozark, Franklin county, today. In January, 1879, Howard's wife was dancing with a man of whom he was jealous. He seized her by the hair, dragged her from the room and to his own house, where he further maltreated her, until from the effects she died. He was convicted and sentenced to be hung in July last, but appealed with effect, and today was appointed by the Governor for his execution. Several thousand persons from the surrounding country were present at the execution At 12:30 p.m. Howard was taken to the scaffold. His demeanor was firm and undaunted. He protested entire innocence of the crime. After singing and praying in which he joined, the trap was sprung his neck was cut instantly, and he died without struggle or pain.

FEARFUL FIGHT.

At a Meeting in Seward, Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 27.—A fearful fight took place last night at 8 o'clock, at the Bates school house, five miles from Seward. Religious meetings had been held there for several nights past. Last night a party of men attempted to break up the meeting. Many shots were fired, several families participating. Eight persons were wounded. William Bates died to-day from wounds received. Levi Bates, County Commissioner, is probably fatally wounded. Officers and physicians were hastily summoned from Seward. Eight men have been arrested and lodged in jail, and the officers expect to arrest more. It is reported that the quarrel originated in the expulsion of two children from the school house some days ago.

A LITTLE STRANGE.

WHITEWATER, Feb. 27.—William Marshall, of Whitewater, has three children, triplets, born twenty-seven years ago.
Last night the three were married at Mr.
Marshall's house by one ceremony performed by Rev. G. W. Wells. The daughter married Newton Steele; the two sons, Miss Bullett and Miss Horton. The family lies are all wealthy and prominent people, and the triplet event of the marriage is the most notable social event of the season. The three happy pairs went to Chicago on the midnight train.

WELL DONE.

MADISON, Feb. 27.—The Madison Fire Insurance Company, better known as the Madison Mutual, has gone out of business, reinsuring in the Westchester, of New York. The cause is said to be a suit against the company by some of the policyholders on the ground of over as-essment. The announcement created a great deal of excitement in business circles.

KILLED BY CARS.

KENOSHA, Feb. 27.—A Mrs. Gorman was struck by the cow-catcher of the accommodation train this evening, and instantly killed. She was on her way home with an armful of small packages, and it is supposed she did not hear the train.

FISH CULTURE.

LAKE GENEEVA, Feb. 27.—Mr. B. B. Scott departed to-day with 50,000 young brook trout for Cheyenne, Wyoming. These fish will be planted in the streams of that territory. They were taken from Dousman's ponds.

A WINTER'S TALE.

A boy once took it in his head that he would exercise his sled.
He took that sled into the road,
And, lord-a-massy! how he slid,
And, as he slid, he laughing cried, "What fun upon my sled to slide!"
And as he laughed, before he knewed, He from that sliding sled was slide, Upon the slab where he was laid They carved this line: "This boy was slide."

rage Bill.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, Feb. 28.—In the Assembly this morning the vote by which the anti-treating bill was killed yesterday was reconsidered and put over till Tuesday for consideration.

The Senate bill was concurred in relating to the manner of drawing juries in county courts.

An attempt was made to reconsider the vote by which the female suffrage bill was passed on yesterday, but the friends of the measure effected an adjournment before the motion therefor could be stated by the Chair.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Byron's Bible, some 1000s of hair, his writing desk, and divers garments and other personal belongings to him have just been sold at auction in London.

Mrs. Parnell, during her recent visit to Philadelphia, received a gift of the commission issued to her father, Commodore Stuart, by Andrew Jackson.

Signor Campanini has signed a three years' engagement with Mr. Mapleson.
He is also to sing with Theodore Thomas at the May festival in Cincinnati this year.

Mrs. John Mackay is solemnly reported to have engaged the exclusive services of one of the most celebrated Parisian dressmakers, so that there might be no duplicates of her gowns.

Mr. Robert Collier, during the service which he conducted at All Souls' Church in Washington last week, prayed for those whom we have put in authority over us, and "strangely enough"—for their wives.

John Cox, the old Pennsylvania Abolitionist, whose golden wedding was celebrated in verse by Whittier and Bayard Taylor, has just died at the age of ninety-four, at Longwood, near Kennett Square.
His house in the times before the war is said to have sheltered as many as twenty escaping slaves in a single night.

One of the Empress Eugenie's pet names for her son in childhood was "Monsieur Dix Minutes," because of his invertebrate habit of demanding ten minutes more. As a little fellow it was always his first word in the morning when he was aroused: "Ten minutes more!" and when too drowsy to speak he stretched out his little hands open; his ten fingers indicated the ten minutes he still desired.

Mr. Robert L. Taylor, of Tennessee, is described by a Washington correspondent of the Journal, of Indianapolis, as having won his way to Congress in an Orpheus like manner. He simply fiddled. After he got his nomination he put his fiddle under his arm and started forth upon his campaign among the mountaineers of his district making a few speeches and causing his violin to breathe out still more persuasive music.

Miss Muntie Hawk is described as looking extremely pretty in pictures.
She is described upon the stage in the last of the "Taming of the Shrew".
Putting off her cloak of black silk, lined with pink, she appears in a magnificent dress of sapphire blue velvet, looped over a skirt of pale blue brocade into which arriven thir-r-d and pink flowers. Her hat is a Rembrandt of gray felt, bound with red, and crummed with pink and white ostrich feathers.

Sensors Edmunds and Thurman had a bright little passage of arms the other day in executive session. Thurman was quietly letting and smoking when Edmunds objected to the confirmation of a certain Ohio nominee. Thurman, putting aside his cigar and springing to his feet, said: "Mr.
President, I had not intended to say a single word upon this matter, but the Senator from Vermont has thrown a brick at an Ohio man, and I must resent that." Mr.
Edmunds, with assumed seriousness, retorted: "You can't throw a brick in any direction these days without striking an Ohio man."

The Empress Eugenie's visit to Zululand will be so arranged that she will reach the spot where her son fell on the 1st of June at the very hour of the struggle and death.
The Empress, in a recent interview with a French journalist, pointed out that the wound on the Prince's arm attested the fervency with which he defended himself. "This movement of covering himself with his arms," she said, "was an habitual instinctive gesture with the Prince; often in our leisure hours when I played with him to his youth, at the slightest sign of attack he covered his breast with his arm as with a shield."

house, and he went to a young agent, and said, "Sell me the Brooks house and you can have the commission." The new agent did so, and his commission was $2,500.

FURNITURE!

BRIEFLETS.

—Plenty of material for mud pies.

—Mr. Robbins is getting along pretty well now—a day.

—Judge Conger goes to Monroe next week to hold court.

—Tomorrow is the day which only comes once in four years.

—The fixtures in St. John's restaurant were sold this morning at auction.

—A testimony and song service at the First Methodist church this evening.

—Courtney's throat is healing now, and there is a good prospect for his recovery.

—The dirt from Nash's new cellar is being dumped along the banks of the race.

—Meeting of the Horticultural Society at Dimock & Hayner's office this evening.

—John Richardson's little son tumbled off a lounge last evening and broke an arm.

—George Brown, one of the young men arrested for the Clinton safe-blowing, is out on bail.

—Hon. Robert D. Wilson, of Jackson county, member of the Assembly, is visiting in the city.

—W. H. Ashcraft has bought of James Church the building which Ashcraft now occupies as a furniture store.

—A little daughter of Michael Concanon is now suffering from a broken arm, caused by a misstep and a tumble.

—No dancing school on Wednesday evening next. Prof. Severance will meet his class as usual on Wednesday March 10th.

—Everybody should take heed to the change in the time table of the Milwaukee & St. Paul road, which goes into effect at once.

—There will be a special communication of Janesville Lodge No. 55, F. & A. M., Monday evening, March 1st. Work in first degree.

—The Hon. Ira B. Bradford, of Eau Claire, one of the leading members of the Assembly, is in the city to-day, and will remain till Monday.

—A large number of friends called upon Mr. and Mrs. Bufum yesterday afternoon, at the reception held by them at the residence of Dr. Chittenden.

—The Opera house is packed full this afternoon with ladies and children to enjoy "Uncle Tom's Cabin," as played by the Forbes' dramatic company.

—It is stated that Col. Ezra Miller, whom all know here, and who now resides in the East, has failed to secure an extension of the patent on his car coupler and platform.

—Mr. Heinze, who served as piano soloist and accompanist at the Remenyi concert here, has concluded his engagement, and returned to the East. Mr. Beale, of Chicago, is his successor.

—We are in receipt of a song dedicated to the temperance workers, and composed by Rev. L. F. Cole. It is entitled "What the Bells Said," and is published by J. T. Chynoweth & Co., of Oshkosh. It is a good one.

—Safe-blowers have been at work in Beloit. The safe in the lumber office of Sherwood & Reigart had its door drilled, and a blast was fired, which failed to force it open. The fellows were disturbed in their work probably, as they then skipped out leaving several of their tools behind them.

—A. P. Bennett is going to sell his present building at auction about the 20th of next month, and as soon as it is removed will commence the building of his new block. The plans are already drawn, and by the way it appears on paper the block will be a handsome one. He has concluded not to heat it by steam, the expense being too large to make it profitable for him to do so.

—The Manitowish Tribe man has no fault to find with Surgeon General Palmer, who was appointed in Dr. Wolcott's place, except that in the army he used to put a little too much quinine in the whisky furnished the soldiers. That is a serious charge, and we should feel like preferring charges against Dr. Palmer, of conduct unbecoming an officer, but since he has soldered up Barr Robbins' head, and got it so it does not leak brains out, we forgive him, and will swear by him always.

—Peck's Sun.

—Last evening there were about seventy-five appreciative listeners, who gathered at the parlors of All Souls church to listen to the lecture given by Rev. O. L. Barler, on "Other Worlds than Ours." The lecture was one of interest and of profit, being crowded with facts and thoughts, which were presented in a very pleasing manner. He showed the latest discoveries in astronomy and from the facts drew many thoughts. He is an enthusiast in that department of science, and is thoroughly conversant with his subject. To-morrow morning he is to preach at All Souls church and in the evening at the Congregational church.

—Nineteen years ago today—on the 25th of February, 1861—the firm of Smith & Bostwick was organized. There have been many changes in Janesville since that time. The city has not only been greatly improved, but the mercantile and other business firms have undergone many and varied changes. This firm has kept on in the even tenor of its way, and has been harmonious and very successful. There is now only one firm which is older—that of Atwood & Lawrence. The firm of Smith & Bostwick has gained a strong hold among the people as well as in commercial circles. It is worthy of the success it has achieved, and the entire community will heartily wish it continued prosperity.

—An eagle-eyed West side druggist the other night saw a suspicious looking darkey moving along Milwaukee street with a bundle in his arms. It was just about the time of night for shop-breaking and thinking that the fellow had probably a bundle of stolen goods, hastened to rap on the lauppost. The night watchmen were at their midnight lauch, but they dropped their sandwiches and started on the run. The druggist pointed to the game, and the watchman followed up the man on the run. He ran too, but being burdened with the bundle, his gait was slower, and the preservers of the peace overhauled him on the bridge. He proved to be a respectable colored man, who was just returning from a relative's and had his baby in his arms. No blood was shed but plenty of apologies. The poor fellow was badly frightened as he thought foot-pads were after him, and all hands were glad to let the affair drop easily.

BEFORE THE FOOTLIGHTS.

Forbes dramatic company appeared last evening at the Opera house to a large audience, and played "Black Diamonds," a sensational drama, showing the workings of the Mollie Maguires in the coal regions of Pennsylvania. The plot was an interesting one, and the play is full of animation. It is largely on the dime novel style, is full of blood and thunder, with enough fun mixed in to fill the time needed to carry off the corpses. No one can get drowsy or indifferent during the progress of such a play, and the audience was quite enthusiastic, and laughter and applause were frequent and hearty. The company was well balanced, there being no stars to outshine all the others and no poor sticks for the company to limp on. Paul Harland, as Mack O'Dare, the engineer, was excellent, and Ed. Gardner, as his dusky fireman, made plenty of fun out of the negro character. Little Camilla, a wee bit of a girl, won much praise for her natural and captivating appearance. The entertainment on the whole is one that cannot but take with the masses, though there was nothing of great historic excellence in it.

To-night the same company give an entirely different play, which promises a greater amount of fun and less gore. It is the society and satirical comedy of "Our Boarding House." The play itself has had a wonderful run in all the large cities, and its reputation is widely extended. It will probably prove more pleasing to many than last night's play. The Aurora Evening Post says:

The play throughout is very fine, and the acting true to nature. It abounds in amusing comicisms, and such is always provoke hearty laughter. The play gives a very true idea of the misadventures and perplexities around a fashionable boarding house, and it is doubtful if those who witnessed it, not engaged in the business, will be inclined to go into the enterprise of keeping boarders. Human nature is shown from its most true and noble, to its most treacherous spheres, as it goes on working out the respective purposes of each character. Virtue is seen to come out from the contest unharmed and in triumph, while treachery and selfishness are seen detected and their purpose thwarted, when the intriguing suddenly collapses, and the little game is laid bare to the view of all.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 37 degrees above zero; at 1 o'clock a. m. it was at 36 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 30 above; and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 35 degrees above. Cloudy and misty.

The indications to-day are, for the upper lake region, rising barometer, colder north to west winds, cloudy weather and snow, followed by clearing weather.

SLIGHTLY SQUEEZED.

John Leahy, in the employ of the North western railroad company, was given a bad squeezing while engaged incouping cars last evening near the freight depot. The train backed up just as he was about climbing up onto the platform of the depot, and he was caught in rather close quarters. It was at first thought he was seriously injured, but on being removed to his home, and Dr. St. John called, it was found that no bones had been broken, but that his chest had been squeezed snug enough to make it pretty sore. It is expected that he will be able to go on duty the first of next week.

THE FIFTH SUNDAY IN FEBRUARY.

This year there are five Sundays in February, to-morrow being the fifth. Such an event will not occur again for forty years—not until 1920.

The following are the conditions necessary in order to bring the result: 1. The year must be a leap-year. 2. The first day of January must fall on Thursday.

It would occur regularly after periods of twenty-eight years if all the years whose numbers are exactly divisible by four were leap-years, as was the case according to the Julian Calendar, but this however is not the case.

When Julius Caesar, or rather when the Egyptian astronomer, Sosigenes, reconstructed the calendar, he considered the year as containing 365 1/4 days, and made allowance for the fourth of a day by making every fourth year a leap year. But a mistake of about eleven minutes too much was made, which amounts, in sixteen centuries, to an error of ten days.

To correct this error Pope Gregory XIII. altered the rule for leap year to read in substance as follows:

"The leap years are, first, those whose numbers are exactly divisible by four, and not by 100. Second, those whose numbers are exactly divisible by 400, and not by 4,000."

The error in the Gregorian calendar amounts to less than one day in 8000 years. The error in the Julian calendar amounts to a little more than three days too much in the course of 400 years. It will be seen that Pope Gregory's rule throws out just three leap-years every 400 years. So the years having five Sundays in February follow a regular course of every four centuries. During the present period the years that have had and will have four Sundays in February are: 1604, 1633, 1660, 1688, 1728, 1756, 1784, 1824, 1852, 1880, 1920, 1954, 1976, 2004.
